THE BOSTON For 1869.

The BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER, established in 1818, is now the oldest daily newspaper in this metropolis. From the first its position as a leading journal rewarded the sagacity and enter-prise of its founders. The present preprietors have aimed to maintain the character it has long enjoyed, and to give it new claims to the public regard. By giving more attention to general news, and making the paper the medium of prompt, full and trustworthy intelligence, they have largely extended its circulation and increased its usefulness. Last year the establishment was removed to a new and commodious building, finished and furnished throughout with a view to prompt and efficient work, the paper itself was enlarged, and no pains were spared to make it worthy in all respects of the place it was designed to fill. These changes have also been followed by liberal additions to its subscription list, and an increase of business in all its depart-

In its editorial management the BOSTON DAI-LY ADVERTI ER aims to discuss all questions of public interest with intelligence and candor. While in politics distinctly republican, and in substantial accord with the policy which has wrought so great results for the nation and for humanity during the last decade, it is the organ of no party, is independent in its judgments, and expresses them with the respect which is due to public opinion, and the frankness which a proper regard for the uppersil welfare requires. To the discusfor the general welfare requires. To the discussion of national topics; the settlement of old controversies on the basis of equal rights; the return to specie payments; the development of domestic industry; whatever seems best for the credit of the nation and the prosperity of the people; as well as to the varied topics of the hour, it will bring careful inquiry and an earnest

EARLY CHICKENS.

Early chickens, like early vegetables, bring profitable prices; hence any suggestions that will show farmers how to increase their profits in this direction, will be of value.

Usually, with proper care, a few broods of chickens may be hatched very early, on almost any farm. When a hen wants to sit, say any time in January, I give The Richest Sables; her a moderate number of eggs and allow her to commence business. The first The Purest Ermines; danger is that the sharp weather of January may chill the eggs, when the hen The Beautiful & Stylish Fur Seal; leaves the nest to search for food. There will be no difficulty in making the transfer, if it be done at night while the eggs are hatching, or before the hen leaves the nest and has become familiarized to the appearance of her chickens. Black, white, speckled, striped, large or small, are alike acceptable to her, if she them. Hence, the best time for making a good stepmother of her, is to put the

As to diseases, I do not find that they are more subject to them than greater proportion of those hatched last year in January, February, and very early in March, than of those hatched at later dates. With a good hennery, kept at a pretty equable temperature (which I have not yet tried), I should have small fears of plenty of eggs in mid-winter, plenty of chickens in January and Febrnary, and very respectable profits from the business in April, May and June .-Country Gentleman.

What remains is soon told. The patient continued the use of the Nervine, (and no other medicine) for some weeks longer, when my further attendance was not required. Since her recovery I have seen her but once. She seems perfectly well. Her joy over restored health is naturally enough most enthusiastic. She never before had a medicine give her such comfort—and such appetite—and such sleep—and such courage—and such strength. She wouldn't try to keep house again without it, and so forth, and so forth. It is my own opinion that the Nervine is the best tonic and corrective of the female organization that has ever come under my observation. I shall not fail to continue its use in all similar cases, and the profession know they are numerous enough.

There is many a rest in the road of life, If we only would stop to take it, And many a tone from the better land, If the queru'ous heart would make it! To the sunny soul that is full of hope, And whose beautiful trust ne'er faileth, The grass is green and the flowers are bright, Though the wintry storm prevaileth. Better to hope, though the clouds hang low.

And to keep the eyes still lifted; For the sweet blue sky will soon peep through When the ominious clouds are rifted ! There was never a night without a day, Or an evening without a morning ; And the darkest hour, as the proverb goes, Is the hour before the dawning.

There is many a gem in the path of life, Which we pass in our idle pleasure, That is richer far than the jeweled crown, Or the miser's hoarded treasure; It may be the love of a little child, Or a mother's prayers to heaven, Or only a beggar's grateful thanks

For a cup of water given.

Better to weave in the web of life A bright and golden filling, And to do God's will with a ready heart, And hands that are swift and willing, Than to snap the delicate, minute threads Of our curious lives asunder; And then blame Heaven for the tangled ends, And sit, and grieve and wonder.

THE TWO WORKERS.

Two workers in one field Toiled on from day to day; Both had the same hard labor, Both had the same small pay. With the same blue sky above, The same green grass below, One soul was full of love, The other full of woe.

One leap'd up with the light, With the soaring of the lark ; One felt it ever night, For his soul was ever dark. One heart was hard as stone, One heart was ever gay ; One worked with many a groan, One whistled all the day.

One had a flower-clad cot, Beside a merry mill, Wife and children near the spot, Made it sweeter, fairer still, One a wretched hovel had, Full of discord, dirt and din; No wonder he seemed mad, Wife and children starved within.

Still they worked in the same field, Toiling on from day to day, Both had the same hard labor, Both had the same small pay ; But they worked not with one will, The reason let me tell-Lo ! the one drank at the still.

DAIRY MANAGEMENT.

The selection or breeding of the very best milch cows and the proper manage- notice. ment of them, and of everything connected with the dairy, are matters of such importance that too much attention cannot be given to them. There is no use in attempting to keep milch cows with profit on inferior pastures, where weeds and coarse grasses occupy the soil. The land must be in good heart, the grasses of the best quality and the water as pure as other place for the same quality. possible. It has been frequently remarked that even on the best pastures, cows which are compelled to drink muddy, stagnant water never produce a good quality of butter.

Some months ago I was called to attend a lady of Williamsburg, N. Y., who had long been suffering from troublesome uterine disease, Its presence was marked by constant vaginal discharge, sometimes of a watery consistency and sometimes creamy and muco-purulent. She had been under other treatment for some time, but constantly grew worse. Vaginal examination disclosed extensive induration and ulceration of the cervix nigri. calisthenic exercises at home for the amusement of the children. A youthful visitor, with interest and pity on his countenance, asked her brother "if that girl had fits?"

OUR HOUSE.

Be true to yourself at the start, young man-

Ere you build your house, mark well the spot,

Test all the ground, and build you not

Dig, dig the foundation deep, young man-

Let the props be strong and the roof be high,

When the shadows shall herald care,

Through which heaven's dews may fall.

"Their works do follow them," saith the Lord,

For the " House not made with hands."

()n the sand or the shaking sod.

Plant firmly the outer wall;

Like an open turret toward the sky,

A chamber with never a roof or thatch

To shut in the spirit's prayer !

A life that outli ves the breath;

As the needful case demands;

Let your title-deeds be clear and bright,

To hinder the light-or door or latch

Be true to yourself and God,

The Beautiful in the Farmer's Life.

Those inexperienced in agricultural pursuits are liable to fall into the error the state of the weather develops those various conditions of the soil. They think that this life of unending toil has a tendency to sear over the finer feelings of his nature, rendering him coarse, stupid, vulgar, narrow, niggard,-unfit to be the associate of the genteel, the educated and the refined.

Ideality, or a capacity for appreciating the beautiful, is a sentiment implanted in the human soul by its Creator, and like all other sentiments or faculties, is much larger, naturally in some than in others, and is much more rapidly developed under favorable, than under unfavorable influences. The question then is-are the influences which surround the farmer in his every-day life, such as are calculated to develop his love of the beautiful, or otherwise?

It can scarcely be doubted that nature in her varying and wonderful works, operates more powerfully in drawing forth with Nature, than farmers? From the S. S. SCRANTON & Co., Hartford, Ct. time in early spring, when the first robin or bluejay sings his glad songs of welcome to returning spring—when the peeper's mournful notes are first heard in the distant marsh, when the earliest flowers open their beautiful petals almost in the border of receding snow banks, on through the season when the air is laden with the peeper's and they will give him business paying from $500 to $1,00 clear profits annually.

THE BEST PIANO IN THE MARKET is LORENZO MATT,

No. 500 TREMONT STREET, (Near Dover.) BOSTON. With the United Double Sounding Board, invented by him, and patented Dec. 31, 1867. Among the many recommendations from Professors and others, I append the following

Lorenzo Matt, Esq. :—Dear Sir, -The Piano-forte which you set up for me, one year ago, has exceeded my most sanguine expectations. I live within sixty rods of tide-water, exposed directly to all the atmospheric changes of the coast, and vet the instrument has stood like a veteran Permit me to add that judgment and commosense, tortified by experience, impress it upon my taith more and more strongly every day, that when you worked out the problem of the Double Sounding Board, you gave to the Piano an im-provement which not only yields immediate return of pure and massive tone, but which enhances its enduring qualities a hundred fold. Very truly yours, SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

From Notre Dame Academy. ROXBURY, MASS. Having now used Lorenzo Matt's Piacos for over two years, we are happy to recommend then for their expression, and at the same time their powerful tone. They have given us more satisfaction than any we have used during the last thirteen years. S. M. ALOYSIUS, Superior

MR. MATT :- Dear Sir,- The Pianoforte with your late improvement combines in the highest degree every quality which constitutes a perfect strument. The tone is not only beautiful and singing, but of immense power : the touch all that can be desired. Allow me to congratulate you on Putty, &c. your success in having produced a superior Pian to all others. Yours truly, PROF. J K.COLBY. HAVERHILL, Nov. 17, 1868.

MY DEAR MR. MATT :- I consider the United Double Sounding Board invented by yourself a valuable invention, giving as it does strength, resonance and uniformity of tone throughout the enire scale. Yours truly, Prov. Sam'l. M. Downs.

A worthy miller-as the story is told in Mr. Dunbar's memoir-was once pained by hearing that the minister was goin away for want of support, the church having decided they could no longer raise his salary. When biling they came together, the miller asked the pastor if his wants had been supplied, and his salary promptly met. He replied in the affirmative. When the brethren were asked if they were any poorer than at the beginning of the year, each one replied "No," and asked how they could be, when their church privileges had been so mysteriously paid for. He asked again, " Is any man here, any poorer for keeping the minister?" and the reply was the same as before. "Then," he said, "brethren, I have only to tell you that you have paid the salary the same as you always did, only more of it, and with greater promptness. To boil water in an elephant's head, and to pour it through the trunk for a spout, might be rather entertaining. There were fancy and poetry in the kitchen of those days. LADIES IN POOR HEALTH.

One of the best medicines, probably the very best ever one of the best medicines, probably the very best ever prescribed, for the numerous aid distressing ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS, is Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. Headache, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Palpitation of the Heart, Faintness, Loss of Appetite, Bearing down Pain, Prostration of Strength, Retained, Excessive, Irregular or Painful Menses—all yield to its magic power. For Hysteria, Epilepsy, Melancholy, &c., it is all but infallible. It is also most valuable to ladies who are experiencing the change incident to advantage and are experiencing the change incident to advantage and are experiencing the change incident to advantage and a supplied to the change incident to advantage and the change in the change in the chang who are experiencing the change incident to advanced years. Then it is that constitutional maladies make their appearance, if any be lurking about the system, and give appearance, if any be larking about the system, and give caste to remaining days. Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator, greatly assists nature at this important period, maintaining the vigor and tranquility of early life, and carrying them with ease and safety through.

Important Certificate.

(Communicated by a Physician.)

Some months ago I was called to attend a lady of Williamsburg. N. Y., who had long been suffering from troublesome uteripe disease, Its presence was marked by consiant vaginal discharge, sometimes of a watery consistency and sometimes creamy and muco-purulent. She had been under other treatment for some time, but constantly grew worse. Vaginal examination disclosed extensive induration and ulceration of the cervix uteri. The uterine inflammation, which was evidently assuming a chronic form, was also aggravated by long-standing constipation, palpitation of the heart, night sweats, cough, poor appetite, and almost daily faintings. She fainted to entire insensibility during one of my first visits. I commenced of course, by such active local treatment as the ulceration demanded, and then applied myself to a recuperation of the general health. It was inconvenient to see her frequently, and except to mark the healing of the ulcers, in the early stages, I visited her only every other week. For tonic and constitutional invigorant Oodd's Nervine only was prescribed. I had some time before become acquainted with its properties, and knew of nothing more safe or satisfactory in its probable effects. And the result completely justified my expectation. In less than a fortnight the bowels had become free and regular in their movements, the night sweats disappeared, and appetite began to grow. The fainting spells became less frequent, and soon ceased altogether. In another fortnight there was no more cough, the vaginal discharge was sensibly diminishing, sleep was normal and refreshing, and the general health decidedly improved. What remains is soon told. The patient continued the use of the Nervine, (and no other medicine) for some weeks longer, when my further attendance was not required. Since her recovery I have seen her but once. She seems perfectly well. (Communicated by a Physician.] IDLENESS. If idleness does not produce vice or malevolence, it commonly produces melancholy. STATE CONSTABLE'S REPORT. The annual report of Major E. J. Jones, chief constable of the Commonwealth, has been transmitted to the legislature.

The force during the past year has consisted of sixty-four active deputies, and five others detailed as clerks. During the year they have arrested and prosecuted 927 thieves of all grades, and other persons charged with crimes. Two thousand six hundred and seven complaints for violation of the license law have been made; five hundred and twenty-six for violation of the Lord's Day; forty-nine thousand three hundred and eighty-five dollars' worth of stolen property has been recovered, and returned to the owners with trifling cost.

The expenses of the State police during the past three years have been $301,-743 03; the amounts received from fines, costs, &c., $374,401 29.

TO PRESERVE FLOWERS.

Flowers, at this season, when a tolerable bonquet costs from one to five dollars, are rather expensive luxuries; and it is worth while to know all the devices of florists to keep them fresh as long as possible. Here is one, said to be practised by the Belgian florists, by which a bonquet can be kept in fair condition for a week or ten days:—Change the water every other of an inch of the stems, and put a pinch of an inch of the stems, and put a pinch of salt and a grain of saltpetre into the water. If very much faded, the stems may be put in hot water for a minute or two, or into high wines, Eau de Cologne, or ammonia.

Anerdotes.

A countryman entered a New Bedford restaurant where a lot of flaming menagerie bills were posted, and on being asked what he would have, replied:

"I guess I'll take a cup of coffee and three menageries."

An Irishwoman, applying for relief, the or other day, was questioned as to her a family by the lady to whom she applied—
"How many children have you?"
"Six."
"How old is your youngest?"
"Me youngest is dead, and I've had another since."

Poetry. CATCH THE SUNSHINE.

Torough a dark and dismal cloud, Though it falls so faint and feeble On a heart with sorrow bowed; Catch it quickly ! it is passing-Passing rapidly away; It has only come to tell you There is yet a brighter day.

Catch the sashine ! thou; h life's tempest May unfurlits chilling blast ; __ Catch the little hopeful stranger-Storms will not forever last. Look ! there comes a gleam of sunshine-Catch it ! oh ! it seems so glad !

Catch the sunshine! don't be grieving O'er that darksome billow there; Life's a sea of stormy billows -We must meet them everywhere. Pass right through them, do not tarry, Overcome the heavy tide-There's a sparking gleam of sunshine

Waiting on the other side. Catch the sunshine ! catch it gladly-Messenger in hope's employ, Bringing you a cup of joy. Don't be sighing, don't be weeping, Life, you know, is but a span; There's no time to sigh or sorrow-Catch the sunshine when you can.

C.,) News and Farmer says that the FANCY GOODS, &c., of proper way to graft the grape vine is to cut the cions between the first of December and the last of January, and pack Licensed Wholesale Dealers by the U.S. keep them in a cellar until the leaves of the vines to be grafted are half grown, then dig down below the collar, or the point where the roots of the vine radiate, and search for the largest and most thrifty, cutting them loose from the collar, and with pegs bringing them to a horizontal position. Cut off the end smoothly and graft just as you would an apple tree, leaving at least two buds or eyes, and then away in a box, bedded in wet sand, and pagraft just as you would an apple tree, leaving at least two buds or eyes, and then place a large hill around it, reaching to the top of the graft, covering the upper buds an inch with loose dirt, free from clods, and then if the graft fails to grow it is because the cions had lost their vitality before the work was done. If the roots are thrifty and in rich ground, the vines will grow eight to sixteen feet in length the first year, and will grow a crop length the first year, and will grow a crop of grapes the second year.—Rural New Yorker.

PHILADELPHIA.

HENRY D. COOKE, Vice-President. EMERSON W. PEET, Secretary and Actuary. This Company, National in its character, offers, by reason of its Large Capital, Low Rates of Pro-mium and New Tables, the most desirable means of insuring life yet presented to the public. The rates of premium, being largely reduced, are made as favorable to the insurers as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the com-plications and uncertainties of Nores, Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are so apt to cause the Policy-Holder. Several new and attractive tables are now pre-sented which need only to be understood to prove acceptable to the public, such as the INCOME PRODUCING POLICY and REFURN PREMIEM POLICY. In the former, the policy-holder not only secures a life insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years, on anual income equal to ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the par of his policy. In the latter, the Company agrees to return to the assured the total amount of money he has paid in, in add-THE Subscriber, after an absence of several months, has returned, and will open his tion to the amount of his policy. Lines written on the death of CYNTHA A. THAYER.

Atter is an angel now.

She knows no pain or care, She's gone to join the pure and good, In mansions bright and fair.

The little form we so much loved, Was agonized with pain, And throbbing with bewildered thought, Was her then fevered brain.

Once more we sought our Atter's side, To say that last good-bye, Since we were told by all who knew, That Atter soon must die.

Long we stood by Atter's side, Bent o'er that clay cold cheek. To kiss the once warm rosy lips, That never more would speak.

How well we loved her none can tell, How much we miss her none can know, Only the dear God, who loves as well. Only he knoweth the tears that flow.

Our darling girl ! oh how we love That spot where she doth lay, And hope our forms will rest at last, Beside our darling girl.

HOW FOWLS GRIND THEIR FOOD.

On this subject S. Edward Todd discourses as follows :- Fowls have no teeth to grind or masticate their food with, and the best they are able to do with it is to peck it to pieces and swallow it whole. Jewelry, Parian Ware, Albums, Kernals of grain are swallowed whole by them, and as they are surrounded by a tough pellicle or skin, which the juice of the stomachs of the animals will not readily dissolve or digest, they could obtain no nourishment at all from the grain, if this tough pellicle were not broken. Now, if we dissect the gizzard of a fowl of any kind, we find a lot of small gravel stones, which are usually the hardest kind of flint, granite or sand stone. Surely here is a pocket edition of farm grist mills.

Fowls swallow their food, broken or not, and it enters the crop or first stomach, and remains in it until it has become softened, more or less, when a small quantity at a time, just as grain runs into a grist mill, is forced into the gizzard among the gravel stones. This gizzard is a strong, muscular stomach, and plays night and day, when there is a grist to grind, similar to bellows, contracting and expanding, thus forcing the gravel stones into the grain, and breaking it into fragments, and NEW YORK WEEKLY triturating the whole mass; after which it is in a suitable condition to be quickly digested.

HEALING WOUNDS ON FRUIT TREES.

A correspondent of the Country Gentleman recommends the following mode J23 4 No 55 Fulton Street, New York. of treating the wounds made on fruit trees when large limbs are taken off. Cut off the limb early in spring smooth with the FURNITURE body-the new wood forms a ridge that year around the cut. The following spring lay the wood bare on this ridge, which makes the wood and bark push forward over the wound the second season. The Walnut, process is repeated until thre whole is covered.

HOLDEN,

SECOND EDITION.

WEYMOUTH, JAN. 18th, 1869. To the Publisher of the Patriot. In the Quincy Patriot, of January 16th, under head of " The way it came about," are a few lines which appear to me to be incomplete. Will you please to suggest to their author the following addition:

The Lord complied-beside him laid, Young Adam, saw, delighted, The fairest creature ever made, Who love for love requited.

'Tis true her love of apples sent, From Eien forth poor Adam ; But this he scarcely could repent, While he retained young madam.

For tho' ejected in a trice, An act that must confound him, The desert seemed a paradise, While lovely Eve clung round him.

Go where he would her smiling face, Made every spot a heaven ; And still 'tis so with all his race,

To whom an Eve is given.

In vain the gates of Eden close, To be reopened never ; Love makes an Eden still to those, Whose hearts are joined forever. F. M. ADLINGTON.

[From the American Agriculturist] Forwarding Cabbage, Cauliflower, and Lettuce.

BY PETER HENDERSON, BERGEN CITY, N. J. During the past month, I have had scores of applications from beginners in Market Gardening, enquiring whether there is any way in which the above-named vegetables may be forwarded by hotbed or otherwise, so as to be in the condition that our cold-frame plants are for planting out in spring. It being impossible for me to make suitable replies to such queries separately, I avail myself of the medium of the Agriculturist, to briefly detail a method we now practice, by which as early a crop can be obtained as by wintering over in cold-frames, and, where the necessary forcing-pits are in use, at less expense than by the coldframe process. In all districts having a latitude nearly that of New York, the seed for Cabbage, Cauliflower, or Lettuce. should be sown from the 1st to the 15th of February in forcing-pits, or in hot-beds, such as we describe in "Gardening for Profit." But instead of sowing the seed on the benches of the foreing-pits or in the bed of the hot-bed, as there described, we advise it to be sown in shallow boxes. We use the ordinary soap box, cut in three parts, giving a depth of two or three inches of soil, and a surface of about two square feet. Care must be taken that the bottom ONE STORY IS BEGUN EVERY MONTH. boards are not matched too close, so that the surplus moisture may pass off freely. The best soil is sandy loam and leaf mould, in about equal parts, or if leaf mould cannot be got, stable manure, decomposed to the condition of leaf mould, will answer equally well. The seed should be sown somewhat thickly-say an ounce to every February, and kept at an average tem- Europe. agreeable and almost instant relief in the spasms of Whooping Cough. This is a complaint that all children are expected to have; and when it comes, strange to say they are left to fight it through as they best car, little or nothing being done to break its intensity or help the sufferers along. And when it is reflect d that very many of the diseases of older and adult years have their origin in the tear and strain of Whooping Cough, this neglect would be utterly unaccountable but for the face that children's discuses, like many of the weaknesses of women, are con-sidered so much a matter of course that people have be-come stoically unconcerned about them. Let them cough it through, as we did, seems generally to be the unfeeling word. Whooping Cough is a Nervous discusse, and Dold's Nervine and Invigorator treats it with COMPLETE SUC-CASS. WINTER'S HARVEST.

Pure and blue is the broad, broad sky-Cold and dark as sapphire stone ; The flowers are all of them frozen and black, And we seem left alone. Now Summer's toil Is Winter's spoil, And the leaves are gathered in.

The poplar's turned to a pillow of gold ; The alder's crimson and dead ; The beach is brazen and glowing ; The sycamore's rusty red; The glory's gone; The year fades on ;

And the leaves are gathered in. In the cold and peaceful sunshine, The dead leaves fill the skies ; Floating, floating, drifting, Like golden butterflies ; For Summer's toil

A CARD TO THE FASHIONABLE

MADAME PHEAMEARY has recently returned to the city trom France, her object being to introduce to the triumph, which has been used by the most fathionable Ladles of Paris, with morbed success, and known there by the appellation of PESTRUCTEUR DES RIDE or by the appellation of DESTRUCTEUR DRS RIDE of WRINKLE DESTROYER. Its power will be, after one or two slight applications to the face, by festofe a strength of muscle that part, there by recreating a youthful appearance in features. It is painfully the case in this country as in her own, a certaintlassitude, accompanied by wrink les on the brow, under the eye and around the month, aphear more premature in the daughters of fortune that heir humble-born sisters, owling, as she believes, to the effects of frequent rounds of gaiety, and the EXECT which so surely follows. And as this article will sorely effect the change desired, Madame P. has no difficence in thus inviting the attention of those whose mirror has notified them of their altered features. Therefore by calling a her office, either herrelt or her American female agen will explain treely and more satisfactorily the cause of the effects it will be so sure to produce. THE PRINTER'S HOHENLINDEN. In seasons when our fands are low, Subscribers are provoking slow, A few supplies keep up the flow

Of dimes departing rapidly. But we shall see a sadder sight, When duns pour in from morn to night, Commanding every sixpence bright To be forked over speedily.

Our bonds and due bills arrayed. Each seal and signature displayed; The holders vow they must be paid, With threats of law and chancery. Then to despair we're almost driven,

There's precious little use of livin', When our last-copper's rudely riven From hands that held it lovingly. But larger yet those dues shall grow, When interest's added on below,

Length'ning our chin a foot or so, When gazing at them hopelessly 'Tis so, that scarce have we begun To plead for time upon a dun,

Before there comes another one, Demanding pay ferociously. The prospect darkens-on, ye brave ! Who would our very bacon save;

Waive, patrons, all your pretexts waive,

And pay the Printer cheerfully. Ah ! it would yield us pleasure sweet, A few delinquents now to meet, Asking of us a clear receipt

For papers taken reg'larly.

The Medicine for WHOOPING COUGH. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR gives DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR gives agreeable and almost instant relief in the spasms of Whooping Cough. This is a complaint that all children are expected to have; and when it comes, strange to say they are left to fight it through as they best can, little or nothing being done to break its intensity or help the sufferers along. And when it is reflected that very many of the diseases of older and adult years have their origin in the tear and strain of Whooping Cough, this neglect would be utterly unaccountable but for the face that children's diseases, like many of the weaknesses of women, are considered so much a matter of course that proofs have be diseases, like many of the weaknesses of women, are con-sidered so much a matter of course that people have be-come stoically unconcerned about them. Let them cough it through, as we did, seems generally to be the unfeeling word. Whooping Cough is a Nervous disease, and Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator treats it with COMPLETE SUC-CESS. Mothers, TRY IT, and save your little ones the worst agony of this distressing affection. A sure and beneficent medicine.

PIANOS.

These instruments are acknowledged by the first Musical. Talkent to be the Finest Instruments manufactured in the world. Their peculiar qualities are:
Extraordinary volume of tane.
Evenness throughout the scale.
Excellent singing quality.
Richness and brilliancy Superb action, and the power of standing in tune longer than any Planos ever before made.
Purchasers desiring a first-class and reliable instrument are invited to call and examine the Decker Brothers' Patent Pianos, at the music store of Whooping Cough for several weeks, and was so much broken of rest at night that—by excessive coughing and loss of sleep—her constitution and g. neral health seemed to be giving away. Various remetics or palliatives were recommended by intimate neighbors, but nothing was tried until our attention was called by a physician not now in practice to Bodd's Nervine. This we procured and commenced using at once—with an effect immediate and surprising. As the convulsions were hardest at night we began by giving the Nervine on her going to bed. The first dose administered made its impression; the cough became less frequent, and very much less severeshes and have found it in every class to be equally successful. I want to rouse each sleepy head, Who stand upon the brink, Where yawning gulfs disclose the dead, Who might, but did not, think. I want to warn the living ones Who blindly grope slong, Ye fathers, daughters, mothers, sons,

What perils round you throng ! Look out, my reader, are you free, Most all are blind and cannot see, Yea, groping in the dark. Consumption is its son ; Kills hosts, yea, countless millions, dead,

Perhaps you may be one. That hacking, hawking, spitting, show, Catarrh affects your head; Matter and slime in throat or nose. Runs down your throat instead. Your lungs and liver soon will show,

Consumption has its birth; Catarrh. its sire, will feed it too, 'Till you return to earth. If colds affect your head and throat, ANNIHILATOR buy; Now don't forget what I have wrote. Or think this subject dry.

WOLCOTT'S ANNIHILATOR cures Catarrh—the demon flies: It saves the lungs, good health insures, And Catarrh quickly dies. I want to gratify my friends, About PAIN PAINT its use, its ends,

And why its great demand. I want to show you, plain as day, Why PAIN PAINT stops all pain. That you may never have to say "I'll not try paint again,"

PAIN PAINT will cool but never stain, Pumps inflammation out;
'Tis harmless on the breast or brain, A trial stops all doubt. When inflammation leaves the frame,

All pain will cease at once ; Remove the cause, 'tis all the same ; None doubts unless a dunce. The pores will ope and drink PAIN PAINT; Al-sorbents fill with ease; Restores the weak, the sick, the faint, The greatest skeptic please,

Evaporation cools the place As inflammation flies ; Hot blood at the absorbent's base Makes PAINT in vapor rise. 'Tis thus PAIN PAINT removes all doubt, Removes the very cause By pumping inflammation out : On this we rest our cause.

For the Patriot. WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY, 1869.

Again the honored day comes round, The birthday of Columbia's Chief ; Again we hear the cannon's sound, Awake our mingled joy and grief.

Of joy contemplating his fame, The man to all his country dear, Of sorrow coupled with the name, Of him who died and left no peer.

Yet is there consolation left, While we to worth due honors pay, Like sons of a loved sire bereft, Elect his mandates to obey.

When dangers compass us around, We trusting to his councils cling, And by experience still have found, That blessed are the fruits they bring. While lives the germ he planted here,

In ev'ry Patriot's heart a gem, Freedom may cast away her fear, And justice wear her diadem. The voice of our departed dead, Still lives to bear secession down;

In vain disunion lifts her head, Defiant of the Patriot's frown. Tho' in the grave his body lies, That voice is like a trumpet still, That seems to issue from the skies,

And bids us heed a Father's will. Time honored object of our love, Who was and ever will be dear, Look down from thy bright home above, And bless thy faithful children here. F. M. ADLINGTON, Weymouth.

Bradley's Super Phosphate is excellent for above every vegetable grown in the garden; - for vards and lawns, and the various shrubs culvated therein; for corn and potatoes in field ca tivation; and especially when stocking land grass, whether in the usual way, with a grain op in spring, or with grass seeds alone in An-

Turning over old bound-out mowing or swand and in August, and applying, say 500 lbs of Super-Pnosphate per acre and reseeding directly to grass, without taking a crop of grain, will give in increased quantity and improved quality of he land be pasture exclusively, this mode of reatment will improve the pasture very much or quite a number of years, or pastures which ressing with Bradley's Super-Phosphate.

Farmers Department.

SMALL FRUITS.

I was pleased with an editorial in the FARMER a few weeks ago, upon raising small fruits. I think far too little attention is paid to that branch of gardening. Perhaps no fruit is more healthful or more easily raised than currants, and yet many farmers have scarcely a current bush on their farms. For several years past the currant-worm has been very destructive in various parts of the country. In this region, the fruit and nearly all the bushes were destroyed two years ago. For a time it seemed as if currants were doomed, but a remedy has been found, and those who were fortunate enough to keep a few bushes alive, can cultivate them with a good prospect of success.

The root of White Hellebore,) Veratrum Viride,) powdered and sprinkled on the leaves, from a common pepper-box, will destroy the vermin, without injury to the of the enemy. They started to grow finepearance. I went to the druggist and purchased a small quantity of Hellebore, J. AHEARN, 63 Second St., Baltimore, Md. 4w SHAWLS and commenced powdering the leaves of * my currant bushes, and the worms disappeared almost as soon as I left. I watched them carefully, but found no trouble with them afterwards. Whenever a leaf showed signs of a raid, I gave another dose of medicine. My currants ripened beautifully.

ber of slips next spring. I consider the CO., 244 Pearl Street, New York. Cherry and White Grape varieties good WANTED-Salesmen to travel and sell by sample enough, and shall cultivate them until I find some better kinds.

Black currants are also worthy of cultivation. The Black Naples is a fine variety, and very productive. At first it is unpleasant to some people, but it makes a fine jelly, and is a profitable crop to cultivate. - Cor. New England Farmer.

THE VITALITY OF SEEDS.

It is of importance to know how long seeds retain their germinating powers, to prevent the sowing of those of impaired vitality, as well as to avoid throwing away those which, though several years old, are still good. The test with water is not reand that which is bad will often sink. The only sure test is to plant a counted number of seeds in a pot or box of earth and berrof seeds in a pot or box of earth and berrof seeds in a pot or box of earth and bear of seeds and bear keep it in a warm room. Who might, but did not, think.

I want to warn the li ing ones, Who blindly grope along, Ye fathers, daughters, mothers, sons, What perils round you throng! Look out, my reader, are you free. Or do you wear the mark? Most all are blind and cannot see,

Yea, groping in the dark. Catarrh, a demon in the head. Consumption is its son; Kills hosts, yea, countless millions, dead, Perhaps you may be one.

That hacking, hawking, spitting, show, Catarrh affects your head ; Matter and slime in throat or nose, Runs down your throat instead. Your lungs and liver soon will show,

Consumption has its birth; Catarrh. its sire, will feed it too, 'Till you return to earth. If colds affect your head and throat, ANNIHILATOR buy : Now don't forget what I have wrote,

Or think this subject dry. WOLCOTT'S ANNIHILATOR cures Catarrh—the demon flies; It saves the lungs, good health insures, And Catarrh quickly dies.

About PAIN PAINT its use, its ends, And why its great demand. I want to gratify my friends,

I want to show you, plain as day, Why PAIN PAINT stops all pain, That you may never have to say "I'll not try paint again." PAIN PAINT will cool but never stain,

Pumps inflammation out;
'Tis harmless on the breast or brain, A trial stops all doubt. When inflammation leaves the frame,

All pain will cease at once; Remove the cause, 'tis all the same; None doubts unless a dunce. The pores will ope and drink PAIN PAINT; Absorbents fill with ease; Restores the weak, the sick, the faint,

The greatest skeptic please, Evaporation coals the place As inflammation flies; Hot blood at the absorbent's base Makes PAINT in vapor rise. 'Tis thus PAIN PAINT removes all doubt,

Removes the very cause By pumping inflammation out : On this we rest our cause. I had a few currant bushes last spring, which I had preserved from the ravages which I had preserved from the ravages

THE GRECIAN BEND.

Let's have the bend that our grandmothers knew, Over the cradle like good mothers true, Over the table, (the family round,)

Let's have the bend that at church ther did wear, Bowing them lowly in meek humble prayer;

Leave the donkey his pannier-and cut yourselves loose From fashions that lower, deform and degrade! Sandy was eighteen; a tall, handsome fel- on fire. To hide some deformity most of them made.

Let our garments be easy and light to be worn-Don't shake in December and sweiter in June,

Let's spend the time in things higher than dress! Time that was given us to aid and to bless; Time that is fleeting and passes away; O let us work while we call it to-day!

Let's have the old bend instead of the new : Let's have the old hearts so faithful and true! Away with all fashions that lower and degrade ! To hide some deformity most of them made!

Farmers Department.

MARCH ON THE FARM.

The labors of spring will soon be upon us. The animals must be prepared gradually for hard labor. Take good care of them now, by frequent grooming and proper feed.

The drainage from roads and from cultivated fields should be turned upon the mowing lots. A small stream can often be led over the grass with little trouble, and it will start up an early and luxuriant growth. Pick up and remove the stones from the mowing land. They are an unmitigated nuisance before the mowing machine, and give more trouble twice over than the labor they cost to get them

Now is a good time to mend up all the tools that will be needed on the farm, ploughs, harrows, drags, and an infinite variety of others. It is far better to do it now than to leave it till they are wanted to use.

Clover may be sown on light snows any time this month, on lands laid down last fall, or upon pastures and old fields that received a top-dressing, when a brush harrow is a great improvement. A good brush harrow, by the way, is another of the things that come handy on a farm, J. AHEARN, 63 Second St., Baltimore, Md. SHAWLS and it would be a good plan to get it ready now.

Grain fields can now be top-dressed with plaster, guano or superphosphate. For applying all concentrated fertilizers the smallest articles sold can be exchanged for a Silver. As for the rest, there will be no time to lose. Something can be done to fill up the month with useful work that will materially help on the work of spring. Though it will be of little use to work the land when it is too wet, some days will occur when the garden soil may be forked up, or perhaps ploughed and harrowed. The ground for the kitchen garden, also, can be enriched. Asparagus bedscan be prepared; the rhubarb plants manured and forked over, and new plants set, using pieces of root having one or more buds. FASCINATION

MADAME PHELMEARY has recently returned to the

Its power will be, after one or two slight applications to the face, to restore a strength of muscle that part, thereby recreating a youthful appear ance in features. It is painfully the case in this country as in her own, a certain lassitude, accompanied by wrink led on the brow, under the eye and around the mouth, appear more premature in the damphers of fortune than pear more premature in the daughters of fortune than their humble-born sisters, owing, as she believes, to the their humble-born sisters, owing, as she believes, to the effects of frequent rounds of galety, and the ENNUI which so surely follows. And as this article will surely effect the change desired, Madame P. has no diffidence in thus inviting the attention of those whose mirror has notified them of their altered features. Therefore by calling at her office, either herself or her American female agent, will explain treely and more satisfactorily the cause of the effects it will be so existed to produce. the effects it will be so sare to produce.

OTHER PEOPLE'S PERVERSITIES.

Once with an honest Dutchman walking, About his troubles he was talking-The most of which seemed to arise From friend's and wife's perversities. When he took breath his pipe to fill, I ventured to suggest, that will Was oft the cause of human ill; That life was full of self-denials, And every man had his own trials.

" 'Tis not the will," he quick replied, "But it's the won't," by which I'm tried. When people will, I'm always glad; 'Tis only when they won't, I'm mad ! Contrary folks, like mine old hen, Who laid a dozen eggs, and then, Instead of sitting down to hatch, Runs off into mine garden patch ! I goes and catches her and brings her And back on to her nest I flings her; And then I snaps her on the head, And tells her : " Sit there you old jade ! " But sit she won't, for all I say, She's up again and runs away. Then I was mad, as mad as fire, But once again I thought I'd try her, So after her I soon makes chase, And brings her back to the old place, And then I snaps her a great deal, And does my best to make her feel That she must do as she was bid; But not a bit of it she did. . She was the most contrariest bird, Of which I ever saw or heard. Before I'd turn my back again, Was running off, that wilful ben, Thinks I, I'm now a ' used up ' man ; I must adopt some other plan; I'll fix her now, for if I don't, My will is conquered by her won't ! So then I goes and gets some blocks, And with them makes a little box : And takes some straw, the very best, And makes the nicest kind of nest; Then in the nest the eggs I place, And feel a smile upon my face As I thinks, now at last I've got When in the little box I've sot her; For to this little box I did Consider I must have a lid, So that she couldn't get away ; But in it, till she hatched must stav And then again, once more I chase her, And catch, and in the box I place her. Again I snaps her on the head. I'ntil I fear she might be dead ; And then, when I had made her sit down, Immediately I claps the lid on. And now, thinks I, I've got her fast; She'll have to do her work at last: No longer shall I stand the brunt Of this old hen's confounded won't! So I goes in and tells mine folks; And then I takes mine pipe and smokes; And walks about and feels so good That ' wouldn't ' yields at length to ' would. And as so oft I'd snapped the hen, I take some 'schnapp's 'myself, and then I thought I'd see how the old creature

Farmers Department.

Hot-beds are of great use in getting early seedlings, and there is scarcely any subject concerning which we have more letters of inquiry. The requisites for making a hot-bed are boards, glazed sashes, manure in a state of active fermentation, and a supply of light, rich soil. The old way of making a manure stack on top of the ground, and putting a frame over it, is well-nigh abandoned. It is more economical of manure and other materials to make an excavation. All the operations depend upon the size of the sashes. Six feet by three is the regular size, but any other will do. Select a well-drained place, facing to the south, and sheltered by a fence, building, or hedge, from prevailing cold winds; make an excavation two feet deep, of a width and length to accommodate the sash. Drive down stakes and board up the pit, having the boards at the rear 18 inches, and those at the front 12 inches above the surface. The manure to be used should be in a state of active fermentation-a condition which may be secured by turning over stable manure two or three times, at intervals of a few days, according to the temperature, watering it if it becomes dry. A good rule is to form the manure in a compact, conical heap, and when it "smokes," turn it over. Fill the trench with fermenting manure, pack or tread it rather firmly, cover it with six inches of light, rich soil, and put the sashes in place. Put a thermometer in the soil, and when the heat declines from 100 degrees, the sowing may be done. Sow Tomatoes, Egg Plant, Peppers, Early Cabbages, etc., in rows four inches apart. The soil covering the seeds must be both rich and light. Where plants are forwarded to in the best advantage, a milder bed is in the head. Sent by Express on receipt of the money at 181 Chatham Square, N. Y. R. L. Wolcott, Prop. 4w readiness, to which the plants are transplanted, when large enough to handle.

The making of a hot-bed is a very easy matter; when it is done, it has to be properly cared for, and here is where ally tender from the manner in which Plated five bottled Revolving Castor, or your choice of many fail. The plants in the bed, naturthey have been raised, are in a confined space, with a heating medium below them which gives the air in which they are enclosed as high a temperature as they can well endure. If now this already heated space be made still hotter by the direct rays of the sun, the tender and WANTED-Salesmen to travel and sell by sample succulent plants at once perish. As soon as the plants are up, the bed must have not only daily attention, but at least twice daily-morning and afternoon. In the morning, about nine o'clock, the upper edge of the sash must be raised by means of a wedge-shaped block, the opening being more or less, according to the interior temperature and the heat of the sun. This operation is termed "airing," and by proper attention to it, injury from overheating may be avoided. In guarding against danger from heat, that from the opposite extreme should not be incurred. The sashes are to be closed in agreeable and almost instant relief in the spasms of Whooping Cough. Poetry. ROCK ME TO SLEEP.

Backward, turn backward, O Time ! in your flight, Make me a child again-just for to-night! Mother, come back from the echoless shore, Take me again to your heart as of yore : Kiss from my forehead the furrows of care, Smooth the few silver threads out of my hair Over my slumbers your loving watch keep-Rock me to sleep, Mother, rock me to sleep ! Backward, flow backward, O swift tide of years I am weary of toil, I am weary of tears : Toil without recompense, tears all in vain, Take them, and give me my childhood again ! I have grown weary of dust and decay,

Weary of sowing for others to reap; Rock me to sleep, Mother-Rock me to sleep Tired of the hollow, the base, the untrue : Mother, O Mother, my heart calls for you ! Many a summer the grass has grown green, Blossomed and faded, our faces between ! Yet with strong yearning and passionate pain, Long I to-night for your presence again; Come from the silence so long and so deep-

Weary of flinging my soul-wealth away,

Rock me to sleep, Mother-rock me to sleep; Over my heart in the days that are flown, No love like mother-love ever has shone; No other worship abides and endures Faithful, unselfish, and patient, like yours ; None like a mother can charm away pain From the sorrowing soul and the world-weary brain ; Slumber's soft calm o'er my heavy lids creep, Rock me to sleep, Mother-rock me to sleep ! Come, lel your brown hair, just lighted with gold, Fall on your shoulders again as of old,

Let it fall over my forehead to-night; Shielding my eyes from the flickering light, For oh ! with its sunny-edged shadows once more, Haply will throng the sweet vision of yore; Lovingly, softly its bright billows sweep-Rock me to sleep, Mother-rock me to sleep Mother, dear Mother ! the years have been long

Since last I was hushed by your lullaby song Sing, then, again !- to my soul it shall seem Womanhood's years have been only a dream With your soft, little lashes just sweeping

Rock me to sleep, Mother-rock me to sleep !

Bold the laddie, bright the lass k, Love's a merry play ; I, a lassie, loved the wooing, Often said I nay.

Many gallants came about me, Gallants fine and gay; When they told me I was pretty, Never said I nay.

Oh, a laddie, he so gentle, Came to me one day, And with honied words he wooed me;

Laughing said I nay. And, if I would let him wed me, Much had he to say

CHEWING THE CUD.

Ruminating animals gather their food rapidly, give it a few cuts with the teeth and swallow it. It goes to an interior reception where it is moistened; this is very essential if it be dry hay. When the animal has filled himself, he masticates the food thus stored away in his stemach, raising it cud by cud. When a portion is completely masticated it passes to another receptacle and the process of digestion goes on. Thus an ox, if left to himself, will raise and masticate all his SLOCOMB'S, 83 Union Street BOSTON. food thus stored away in his stomach. If he be pushed and worked hard, and does must masticate each mouthful before he swallows it. A hungry ox let into a meadow will fill himself in twenty minutes while a horse would want at least an hour and twenty minutes to take the same and twenty minutes to take the same amount of grass. The ox, the deer, sheep, goat, chamois and rabbit, being the natural place of safety to ruminate their food at will give their leisure .- Mirror and Farmer.

WHEN TO MANURE TREES.

Inquiry is often made as to the frequency and amount of manuring or cultivation for trees. The answer must be : Act according to circumstances. The question again recurs: How shall we know what our soils need? The answer is: Observe the results of growth. An examination If the soil is so rich that they make annual shoots of two or three feet or more in fength, without any cultivation or manuring at all, (which, however, is rarely the case,) then it will be needless to give additional care. The annual growth is the best guide to treatment. There are "Sterility is Laid "-No Humbug. very few apple or other orchards which, after reaching a good bearing state, throw for Circular, free. The owner may lay it down as an unalterable rule, that when his trees do not grow one foot annually they need more manuring or cultivation, or both. HOW TO SET A HEN.

We have found the most convenient way to set hens, was to get a common tea chest or box, put a portable sloping roof to it, made of a few pieces of board. Put a hole at one end, like that for a dog kennel. In front of this put a wire pen or frame made of lath. Provide the hen with food and water daily, and you need not be under anxiety about your hen leaving her eggs; she cannot get out, and will return on the eggs, if really broody, in a very short time. In this way you would have them entirely under your command. When the chickens are hatched, I find these same boxes answer every purpose; only in wet weather, if a shed cannot be had, they must have the frame covered with canvas or boards. -Stock Journal.
